FROM THE OWYHEE MINES.—A miner writes from Ruby City, Idaho, July 17th, to the Boise Statesman, in the following strain about Owyhee District:

Owyhee is not at a stand still, but steadily progresses and goes on. The development and working of the Morning Star and Oro Fino show the resources of the country, and the wealth in those mines is only an indication of what may be expected when more capital secures more development. I learn that an agent for a New York Company has just arrived. They are called the Lincoln Company, and have a twenty stamp mill being prepared in San Francisco, which will be running this Fall. So we have mills coming, and it is to be hoped this management may not injure the district as other bad management has done. I shall keep pace with the improvements, and keep you posted again after a while, though I shall now be absent for some weeks. Times are not bad here, nor can they be termed good. It is difficult to manage a new and undeveloped quartz region to have good times before the product of the mines comes into circulation, but some dust is dug here, some comes here, and somehow everybody makes a live of it. It is now certain that extensive sales have been made in New York, that will soon put money here to have and to spend. Capital then has commenced to be interested, and the pospect now is that the future of Owyhee will rapidly develope. The Vass mill is near completed. The Ainsworth mill, refitted to work by steam, with improved machinery, will [illegible] four mills at work here and more coming.

A MODEL LETTER.—The following letter has been received by the principal of a public school in England, in reply to a circular asking the opinion of parents upon the practice of flogging: "DEAR SIR:—Your flogging cirklar is duly received. I hopes as to my son John you will flog him just so often as you like. Hees a bad boy, is John. Althuath I've been teaching him miself; it seems to me he will learn nothing—his spellin is speshall ottragusly deficiant. Wallup him well, sur, and you will receave my hearty thanks. Yours, Mossss WALKER. P. S.—Wat acounts for John being sich a lad schollar is, that he's mi son by mi wife's first husband."

SATURDAY MORNING, AUG. 5, 1865

The Old Story.

We have patiently waded through a most doleful, dreary chant in that broken-winded concern known as the "Church organ," facetiously styled the News—the Weekly Deseret News—very weakly and, so far as news is concerned, a perfect desert, indeed. We summoned all our own large stock of patience to aid us in the cheerless undertaking and went through the weary effort to the last syllable, determined to see what this ancient musician could say for himself or for his master on the score of loyalty. We found it, as we expected, a lame attempt, which only succeeds in demonstrating the impotence of the performer.

Several people have sent us the arid sheet containing the article refered to, and we wonder if any of those who have explored it, ever saw anything more paltry. Why, we almost knew the thing by heart—it is in every particular identical with scores which came from the same source, especially during the days immediately preceeding the "Mormon rebellion." In the edition of July 29, 1857, five days after the news was brought from the States by certain men of the many-wife pursuasion, among whom we notice the name of Elder O. P. Rockwell—"Old Port"—there may be seen very nearly a fac simile of the "loyal or disloyal" leader of the same sheet in its issue of the present week. And all through that period, while asserting their loyalty in the most positive language, the leaders were sedulously preparing the people for sedition and so successfully that, when the troops, after their long and weary march across the plains, reached the vicinity of [illegible] hostile hordes ninety-nine hundredths of whom were aliens to the soil. The Government train was cut off and burned and everything that traitors, no more powerful than Brigham's, could do to bring the troops to starvation was done, and by whom?

The same individuals, who now, as then, are most clamorous of their patriotism—God save the mark! Any one, who will take the trouble to read, may find the source of Mormon treason in the public teachings of Brigham Young and his pack during that period aye, and at a period much later, brimming full and running over with disloyalty to the Government as they are. Were it worth our while we could fill entire volumes with extracts from his discourses perfectly dripping with acrid treason, but it were a waste of time. The same brilliant genius, who proves Mormon treason in '57 to have been downright loyalty, because, forsooth, Floyd and Davis became traitors themselves in '60, would certainly find no difficulty in explaining away any offense of which mere language is capable. however malignant. The hoary-headed hypocrite, who undertakes this unenviable task, is by far to ancient a maligner himself and too well schooled in this species of baseness to hesitate at such trifling impossibilities. He would undertake this, or any similar dirty work, at which his master sets him, with all the insensibility to nausea, that characterizes the professional scavenger.

Not the least of Brigham's endowments is the ability he posseses, of discovering at a glance the natural bent of individual capacities and in selecting his instruments according to their fitness for his purposes. This ancient dotard, after squandering years in storing a groveling mind with information, finds no better way of using it than in explaining away the meaning of his master's evil words and denying the purpose of his more devilish deeds. Those deeds, when his skill has clothed them to his liking, resemble dead trees which stand along the edges of our eastern forests overgrown with poison ivy, pleasant to look upon, but deadly to the touch and indicative of the rottenness and decay it covers.

Brigham Young is a pardoned rebel. He brought the people of Utah to rebel because his high-handed proceedings as governor made it necessary to replace him by a man of less despotic disposition and treasonable tendencies. If there ever was a traitor he is one in heart to-day. He laughed at the laws then, he defies them now, but fidelity instead of imbecility holds the place of power at the present, and when the mandate of obedience goes forth again he will be very apt to obey—who doubts it?

VIRGINIA CITY, July 26th, 1865.

VEDETTE,—Believing that a correspondence from the mining districts of Montana, tinctured with neither politics nor predjudice, would not be uninteresting to many of your readers, I have hastily collected a few of the first impressions received since my advent upon the golden soil of this Territory. It is a well-known fact that miners as a class are migratory in their habits, which may be attributed in part to a lively imagination and "great credulity." We are told that one year ago to-day, the streets of this "city of the mountains" were so crowded with teams. pack trains, etc., that it was both difficult and dangerous during business hours for a pedestrian to attempt the main thoroughfare. This however falls far short of being the true state of affairs at present, although "Virginia" is by no means deserted, yet it is evident that without further development of the quartz mines by which she is surrounded, she will be called upon ere long to take her place as the second city of Montana. There are many causes assigned for this apparent change, among which may be enumerated the reports of rich placers at Last Chance. Blackfoot, Silver Bow, German Gulch and other places, coupled with the great disaster to this gulch caused by the early Spring floods. Many of the claims (perhaps one-half) have not been re-opened for the want of both confidence and capital, nor is it probable they will be. until some mammoth stock company monopolizes the ground and substitutes a bed-rock flume for the sluice and rocker. The future of Virginia depends much upon her quartz lodes which are undoubt- the present unconditional real estate law of Montana where a party are not required to develop a lead farther than find wall rock, it may be years yet before the incredulous capitalists of the east can be induced to invest in these uncertainties, and consequently the drain from this locality must continue until only sufficient is left to care for remaining interests. Quartz, quartz, nothing but quartz can be heard or seen now. Quartz in the pocket, quartz on the brain, quartz in the shop windows, and quartz every where under foot. If one should stand for half a day upon the corner of the principal street and listen with his eyes closed and with any degree of credulity, he might easily imagine himself surrounded by the fairy characters represented in that extravagant fiction "The Arabian Nights." Taking the advantage of the liberal law before referred to, I may say thousands of lodes containing nobody knows what, have been staked off and recorded and in very many instances with no reference whatever to the character of rock, the course of the supposed lode, or the metal contained in it. It is not unfrequently the case that one party will own or have recorded from 40,000 to 100,000 feet with scarce money enough in his pocket to purchase a healthy man's victuals, while one-tenth part of the labor expended in prospecting, if employed in developing one good lode, would obtain a probable competence for life. Thus progress the quartz mania.

Our visitors from Washington, the Hon. James M. Ashley and party, after a sojourn of several days in Virginia left, in company with Judge Hosmer and A. P. Langford, for Helena. Blackfoot and other mining camps, on Monday morning last. The gentleman seemed much pleased with the attention paid him, and announced his intention to take with him a few momentos in the shape of certificates for "feet," to exhibit on his return to the Federal capital. He addressed a mass meeting of the citizens, on last Sunday evening, and was listened to for nearly an hour with marked attention. He claimed not only the credit of being instrumental in organizing the Territory, but also to have been bitterly opposed to the obnoxious seigniorage act. He anticipated further agitation of that question during the next session, and advised the calling of a convention. at some point convenient, of all the Territorial delegates to Congress. for the purpose of drawing up a protest to such interference by Congress, and further organizing upon some basis of action whereby they might hope to successfully oppose the threatened encroachment upon the long established right of the miner. He also advised the election of an Administration man as delegate, promised many reforms in post routes, military post. etc., and a strong defence of miners' privileges, provided the "road agents" allowed him again to pass on his way to the Nation's Capital.

The coming canvass promises to be more interesting than at first supposed. It seems, through some misunderstanding, that the democracy have determined to drop Col. Sam McLain, and put a new man upon the track. This is not well relished by the escort delegate and some of his particular friends, who threaten a strong oposition in case the aspiring and refractous ones do not come into the traces. Several names have been mentioned as candidates, the most prominent of whom are McMath of Virginia, Johnston of Helena, and Pemberton of Helena. The Union or Republican party are also somewhat divided between Edgerton, Hosmer and Sanders. It would not be at all surprising if they put an untried man upon the track, should none of the present aspirants withdraw previously to the meeting of the Territorial convention.

The modes of this camp differ but little from those of large mining camps in Colorado, Idaho and other places. Dog fights, horse races, and the hoarse bawl of half dozen auctioneers, render Sunday in town anything but the quiet Sabbath of a New England village.

Con Orem the celebrated pugilist was last Monday arrested on the complaint of Mrs. Summers for threatening her bodily injury. Con failing to find a match with the male pugilist, it seems. (according to her story) threatened to "punch" the fascinating belle of the "Hurdy" in the nose. The lady appealed to justice for protection, but a compromise was effected, ere the case closed or a sentence was pronounced. We are sorry to add that after the fact of the compromise was known to the court. the case was continued for some time until the obscenity elicited had thoroughly disgusted the audience.

The VEDETTE has a great and growing circulation throughout our Territory. and is more eagerly sought for than all the other papers coming here. More anon.

AN ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE

BY A RESIDENT OF UTAH.

ARTICLE 36.

The innumerable changes and multifarious policies pursued in the governmental and operative department of the Utah emigrational scheme, render it impracticable to detail minutely the entire workings of the system. and, as every policy adopted is intended to secure the same ends, viz. that of augmenting the wealth of Brigham Young and his sycophantic flatterers, it is likewise unnecessary.

In accordance with the tenor and spirit of all financial movements under Brigham's tutelage, an Agent of the Church is periodically dispatched to, and located at, the point of outfit, to superintend the emigration thence to Utah. The outfitting point of late years has been Florence, Nebraska. The church warehouse there is a general furnishing depot, where provisions and everything necessary for the great overland trip,—from the superb travelling carriage to the hand-cart, and from the fine American horse to the ungainly though serviceable "ox and his sister," are supplied to order. The Agent there is held responsible by the chef d œuvre of finance for the correct rendering of his accounts, and all purchases and sales of outfitting wares are made under his direction. This depot is very convenient to the emigrant, and would, if conducted on principles of strict justice, be of incalculable benefit to the class for whom it is intended. But, instead of justice, immense profits are sought, and invariably realized by the firm of Brigham Young & Co., who, dear, self sacrificing creatures (!) are ever ostensibly laboring with a disinterested devotion for the people's good, to promote which they labor without hope of reward. Do not, dear reader, dispute their word, for they speak the truth. They make sure their reward by labor without HOPE of it.

Independent companies fare according to the extent of their purchasing abilities. and are not so much the subjects of gross imposition as other companies that travel in what is known as Church trains, who fare very indifferently. A computation of cost, with probable losses from non-payment, is made by the agent at Florence, and members of the latter companies are charged accordingly. Some consideration is allowed for pre payment, but all have to pay their per centage. Promissory notes for the amounts charged are taken from those unable to pre-pay charges, which notes are subject to an interest of ten per cent. In connection with this, I beg to remind my readers of the fact, before published, that the funds are previously furnished by the people themselves, in a series of subscriptions to the Perpetual Emigration Fund; and that no expenditures are allowed for the emigration of the poor, unless a sufficient amount of means is in hand to cover the same.

At the time that hand carts were in vogue, a few teams were purchased and sent along with them to carry provisions and extra baggage for the use of, and belonging to, the members of the company. The extra baggage hauled was charged for, and after its arrival in Utah, deposited in the Tithing Store till redeemed by its owners. When inconvenient to freight it all, a portion has been left in the Florence Church Store, to be forwarded at a more favorable opportunity. In many cases, the poor, confiding souls, have left it, without so much as asking or obtaining a receipt for it, and there has terminated their acquaintance with it. Thus have the obedient hand-cart slaves lost there little all irrecoverably. The author remembers well the warnings given at Florence by members of the church themselves, to the hand cart company then organizing there, to sell, what could not be transported through under their own observation, at any sacrifice, in preference to leaving it in charge of the church agent.

Hand-carts, teams, tents, fire-arms and provisions were all reckoned in the computation of the cost, and the individual charges so made that the aggregate would cover the entire cost; yet, in the face of all this, the stipulation was made before starting, that the teams and all of the above named articles should be turned over as church property on arrival in Great Salt Lake City, as though unpaid for. The computation made included provisions at Florence prices, whence they were supposed to be forwarded for use of the company travelling, or such arrangements made with the Utah Church agent, as would ensure the needed supply without extra cost to the emigrant. And this could be easily effected. Thousands of pounds of flour and other articles are annually donated by members of the church in Utah for the benefit of the incoming emigration. This flour and the other articles so generously given, could be forwarded, by empty teams going out for church property, at little or no expense, and would be but a just acknowledgement of the thousands paid by the poor emigrants in their native lands, and on which the church, alias, Brigham Young, has grown opulent and haughty.

The assertion that all the available property in charge of hand-cart companies had to be turned over to the church on arrival here, will be disputed by some. To such anticipated objection, I would urge that, if not in all cases so decided by either written or verbal stipulations, the great chevallier d industrie of Utah contrived to so charge for whatever produce or aid was furnished from this end of the journey, and to receive the company property in payment at such prices as would secure to him the whole of it before the company's accounts were settled, or before the property could be extricated from his long-fanged clutches.

In my next article I purpose giving a detailed account of the hand cart emigration, and illustrating its practical operations by such historical facts, as well as financial statistics, as will verify and indisputably authenticate the statements here made, and those that will be made in the further exposure of this inhuman, deeply humiliating, and unholy scheme of aggrandizing degradation. that has emenated from the most despicable, because the most sanctimoniously pretentious, of all modern tyrants.

Dancing is decidedly discountenanced in high-toned seminaries through the States, but in the above it would be "base ingratitude" to object to "hops."

Big Stocks, Brisk Trade!—Everybody is interested in bargains, quick sales, small profits, 'fresh stocks and so forth and so forth. Therefore make a note of what is advertised by Heller & Snyder in another column, and let not the opportunity slip. That's what's the matter with the "purp"!

Who Can Tell.—We are in receipt of a letter, inquiring for one Wm. E. Fletcher, who came to Salt Lake some two years ago, since which time nothing has been heard from him. His mother has died and his father is very anxious to know his whereabouts. Any information would be thankfully received and would accomplish its object if addressed to S. Chipman, Centerville, St, Joseph Co., Michigan.

The way the women here from Europe—that are well to do—drink tea, in preference to different decoctions, makes a body think that article of merchandize should be quoted in the market column "with a downward tendency"—tea tending downwards at the thousand tables here three times a day! But the point of such a joke is badly blunted when you go to purchase and find out the "prices current."

Election Day.—Election day and the locality of the polls have heretofore been myths to many of these Mormon laity. They knew no more about it than the councils of their Creator. But the times are changing, and so are the manners. An election—for a Delegate to Congress, a few Territorial legislators, a city Alderman and so forth—is announced to come off here on Monday next, in accordance with an Act regulating elections, "approved January 3, 1853." Of course they have the dead thing—like the handle of a jug—just at the present; hence few will bother themselves about the ballot box, one way or the other.

Gen. Sully's Campaign.—A St. Paul, Minnesota, paper contains correspondence from Gen. Sully's expedition, then in Dacotah Territory, stating that the original plan has been changed, and Sully's force will be divided into two expeditions. One will go up Missouri river to Fort Rice, and from thence to Devil's Lake; the other will cross the Missouri at Fort Pierre, and proceed by way of Big Cheyenne Valley to Powder river, where they will establish a fort, and, leaving a garrison, the remainder of the troops will return to Omaha. So long as the Indians can take refuge in British territory, it is believed these expeditions will not be able to effectually put a stop to Indian outrages.

The item market here is apathetic. An arrival of Sagebrushers from the west, or Bushwhackers from the east, is sorely called for to stir up the dust—if but by getting up a shin-dig on the Square. Not even a runaway, divorce or item of [illegible] has happened [illegible] with the exception of a market wagon, yesterday took fright—that the team and not the vehicle—while the horses headed for "the front" (of the Bench,) the vegetables bringing up the rear, and the owner, in the rear of all, looking sadly on the wreck of "watermellions" and the crush[illegible]. There wasn't much injury done to either after all; and there wasn't much interest in the race, to us—save this—an item.

Items from the Plains.—From C. L. Rutter, Esq., who arrived by a recent coach from Denver, Halleck and Bridger, we have learned some interesting items on things and matters. Mr. Rutter, chief clerk of Quartermaster Furnley, of Denver, came to Collins, Halleck and Bridger with "the greenbacks" for quartermaster uses at those points; and stepped aboard the coach at the latter place to make a flying visit to the "City of the Saints," seeing he had then the nearest chance of striking Zion that he might again enjoy for ages—if for ever!

Times were dull at Denver. Some immigration of Missourians arrived occasionally, but not of the most interesting order. The quartz mills in the mountain districts were doing little, compared to other seasons, cause—the depreciation in gold, the high prices still demanded for goods, wares and merchandize by the merchants; the consequent high rates of labor asked by miners, and the impossibility of the capitalists and mill men to come to Limerick—with the same wages for labor as they only paid when gold was worth 280! A change in the prices of living and labor must take place before the mill men can afford to 'fire up" and "tunnel."

Col. Potter is in Sub-District command at Denver, Gen. Slough not having yet arrived. Transportation has been hard to get, for "love or money" at Denver or at Julesburg, the season past. Parties returning through Denver to the States, were offered big freight to haul stores from Denver over to Collins and Halleck, or down to Julesburg, and from the latter place to Laramie, but 'twas like "pulling teeth" to them to do it. All the avaiable stock and wagons about that section of Colorado are in use transporting storehouse lumber, stores and so forth, to Collins, Julesburg, Junction and other points where preparations are being made to stand the events which may turn up this fall and winter, during the campaign. Two regiments of Michigan troops, part of Sheridan's old cavalry, left Julesburg on the 15th ult, under orders from Gen. Connor, to make forced marches to Forts Collins and Halleck, for the more effective protection of the mails and travel on the route between the Black Hills and North Platte. They are by this time regulating matters so that henceforth we hope to hear of but little delay and fear of Indian attacks near Halleck, Sage Creek, Waskie or elsewhere on this western division.

General Dodge is on an unofficial visit to Colorado, for his health. General Sherman has recently relieved Gen. Pope, in command of the north-west, and is now at his headquarters in St. Louis. Gen. Meade has also located at his new headquarters, Philadelphia. Only a tri-weekly stage runs between Denver and Virginia Dale. Thence, to Halleck, North Platte and Sulphur Springs, a weekly "government wagon," (the Overland Stage Line having no stock on those two or three hundred miles, between Va. Dale and Sulphur,) from Sulphur to Weber a tri-weekly stage, and from Weber to this place daily. Spottswood, Division agent, is using some effort to stock that wide gap on the line. He sent to Denver for three or four teams and coaches, on the 20th. There were at least a score of through passengers lying over at Virginia Dale and Denver, for want of conveyances to come in. Not an Indian was seen by Mr. Rutter on the whole line, during the twelve or fifteen days it took him to come from Denver to this city. The long expected "troops" from the States had not reached Julesburg or Gen. Connor's field headquarters at Laramie, at the time our informant left; that is to say, in any strength or condition to scare many thousand red-skins. Capt. Skelton relieves Lieut. Logan in Commissary and Quartermaster duties at Bridger, and the latter joins his company. Lieut. Firman and Capt. Mathewson's companies were making good time going east, when Mr. Rutter met them, beyond Bridger.

WHY should a man always wear a watch when he travels in a waterless desert? Because every watch has a spring in it.

A young lady who is given to romances says that heroines must be greatly given to washing, since they are always found wringing their hands.

ONE more question, Mr. Parks," said a counsel to a witness, who happened to be a tailor. "You have known the defendant a long time; what was his habits—loose, or otherwise?" "I guess it must have been in my mouth just then, doctor," replied the poor fellow, with a faint smile.

United States
7.30 LOAN.
Third Series.
$230,000,000

By authority of the Secretary of the Treasury, the undersigned, the General Subscription Agent, for the sale of United States Securities, offers to the public the third series of Treasury Notes, bearing seven and three-tenths per cent. interest per annum, known as the

7.30 LOAN.

These notes are issued under date of July 15, 1865, and are payable three years from that date in currency, or are convertible at the option of the holder into

U. S. 5.20 Six per Cent.

Gold bearing Bonds.

The Bonds are now worth a handsome premium, and are exempt, as are all the Government Bonds, from County, and Municipal taxation, which adds from one to three per cent. per annum to their value, according to the rate levied upon other property. The interest is payable semi-annually by coupons attached to each note, which may be cut off and sold to any bank or banker.

The interest at 7.30 per cent, amounts to

One cent per day on a $50 note.
Two cents per day on a $100 note.
Ten cents	"	"	"	$500	"
Twenty cents	"	"	"	$1,000	"
One Dollar	"	"	"	$5,000	"

Notes of all the denominations named will be promptly furnished upon receipt of subscriptions.

The notes of this Third Series are precisely similar in form and privileges to the Seven Thirties already sold, except that the Government reserves to itself the option of paying interest in gold coin at 6 per cent., instead of 7 3-10th in currency. Subscribers will deduct the interest in currency on to July 15th, at the time when the subscribe.

The delivery of the notes of this third series of the seven thirties will commence on the first of June, and will be made promptly and continously after that date.

The slight change made in the conditions of this THIRD SERIES affects only the matter of interest. The payment in gold, if made, will be equivalent to the currency interest of the higher rate.

The return to specie payments, in the event of which only will the option to pay interest in Gold be availed of, would so reduce and equalize prices that purchases made with six per cent. in gold would be fully equal to those made with seven and three-tenths per cent. in currency. This is

The only Loan in the MARKET.

Now offered by the Government, and its superior advantages make it the Great popular Loan of the People.

Less than $230,000,000 of the Loan authorised by Congress are now on the market. This amount, at the rate at which it is being absorbed, will all be subscribed for within sixty days, when the notes will undoubtedly command a premium, as has uniformly been the case on closing the subscriptions to other Loans.

In order that citizens of every town and section of country may be offered facilities for taking the Loan, the National Banks, State Banks, and Private Bankers throughout the country have generally agreed to receive subscriptions at par. Subscribers will select their own agents, in whom they have confidence, and who only are to be responsible for the delivery of the notes for which the receive orders.
